

Paul Stead holds an honours degree in Chemistry and Geology and has worked in the production chemicals industry for 17 years. He has held various technical and commercial positions within the oilfield service industry and is currently Baker Petrolite's Technical Manager for Latin America.